But if you're like "Whaaaaat?" then you're not alone. If you're curious about these features, check out this video: In this video we explore the night sky and look at some of the coolest features in Google Earth. You'll learn about the NASA SkyView and the international WorldWide Telescope, and you'll see the constellation of Orion, the three stars that make up Orion's Belt, and the North Star, which is "The Bear". We then look at the Moon, planets, stars, galaxies, and nebulae. All of this is well and good, but there's still more! Watch this part of the video to learn about the International Space Station, Sun, planets, and Stars. You'll also learn about Planck's Satellite, and how it can give us a glimpse of the big bang, galaxies, and a whole lot more. Don't forget, you can get a free Google Earth for Android, visit: To find out more about the International
