CRACKMicrosoftWindows10Prox64enUS1809KMISO.Q: JQuery selector with an id What is the selector for calling an element's id? something I'm using this in an IE6 document, and it seems like the first selector that gets evaluated is id="foo". If that's the case, how do I select it? A: I can't exactly remember, but it is $('#foo')$. You could use this selector: $('[id$="foo"]')$ or $('#foo')$ Q: Examining the proof of Stone–Weierstrass Theorem

The proof of Stone–Weierstrass theorem given in Conway & Guy (1971) is as follows: Suppose X is an infinite set and let C be a subset of X with the following property: For each sequence (x_n) in C there is a subsequence (x_{n_i}) converging to some point $x \in X$. To prove that C contains a dense subset it is sufficient to show that the complement of C is finite. Let C^{\prime} be the complement of C .

Suppose that $\{x_n : n \in \mathbb{N}\} = C^{\prime}$. We define a map $h : C \rightarrow X$ by $$h(x) = \lim_{n \rightarrow \infty} x_{n+1}.$$

One can show that this h is a surjection. Since there are only finitely many points in X there are only finitely many points in C^{\prime} . Question 1. Is the following a step right in the proof? If not, what is the correct statement? To show that h is a surjection, consider the following cases:
