Ghanimah Ibn Ma.Q: Neo4j Express server on Heroku I have been playing with Neo4j for some time now, I'm fairly experienced with both node.js and relational databases but I'm having some hard times with Neo4j. I have a backend where I need to receive requests from an HTTP API that Neo4j accepts (I've run a basic HTTP server with Express, using the standard configuration. I've seen a few tutorials about creating a Neo4j server on Heroku using the Neo4j Heroku integration. The architecture of the problem I'm having is similar to the tutorials, however, I'm running into some troubles as I cannot get a success from my Heroku app. In order to deploy my app on Heroku, I have to sign the code, so I created a.pem file and then installed it into the Heroku server. I then ran "heroku config:add SERVICE=process.env.TRAVIS_URL" to add that value to the Heroku server. Then I went to Heroku and created a dyno, set the environment variable and added the worker dyno to the app. I then ran a Procfile with the following content (with the standard neo4j env var set): web: node app.js However, when I do this, my app never begins. Here's the log:
