“The overall atmosphere is certainly not what’s typical, but we honestly don’t mind. One of the things I love about the game is that it doesn’t seem boring. We just checked a little bit in the menu and seen more details than the average reviews. Those who focused on a side that not many appreciated on the game in the past, got positive feedback about the aspect. Compared to the other reviews the game seemed to have a lot of replay value. I know that we can’t all have the best experience to get the best out of a game, but I hope the reviewers can take a little bit of pleasure in playing the game, if they did. I think everyone can agree that first, this game is not only based on the title. The game has a strong high definition look. The characters have a nice hand drawn look to them. Even my girl when she saw the game said “Look at those in the title, the game looks so beautiful. The character models are good. This game will look great in a high definition console. I was also very excited to see the game getting a rating of 9.74. The game has a cool story and the villains are very cool. They look so cool with their atmosphere and ideas. The world design and visuals are also not bad. It was the most appealing part of the game to me. All around it's a very good looking and looking game that one can play and enjoy for a long time, assuming one has patience." - BronzeDragon RPGWatch Elden Ring Activation Code - 8/10 "I spent many hours playing the demo version. I love the unique turn based system the game is based on. This isn't your classic RPG. I played many quest games before. So I don't know how the player will feel about the gameplay. I think it might remind some of the early Fire Emblem games you play with the main character holding the sword you have to attack with. Now imagine you doing that with a hundred more characters, then mix in some of the magic attacks you can use and the turn based system. I can tell you this is one RPG you don't want to miss when it comes out, as it is already packed with a huge amount of content. I loved my time with the game. One

Q: PHP/JS/AJAX - How do I add a PHP Array Variable into a Javascript Array? I am currently attempting to add a PHP array variable to a javascript array, what I am wanting to achieve is basically when a user clicks submit, an AJAX file will do the job and send a POST request to the same URL, but with a different value in the array. This is the function which I would like to add in the php file -

var testArray = ["test1", "test2", "test3"]; function doSomething() { document.getElementBy

Id("submit").onclick = function(e) { e.preventDefault(); $.ajax({ url:
"doSomething.php", type: "post", data: {
testArray : testArray }, dataType: "html", success: function (response) { var myHTML = " + response + "; document.g etElementById("result").innerHTML = myHTML; } }); }; } And this is the php file
